Objective of SEMINAR

- To explore the knowledge of basic architecture of Cloud Computing in details and There is an explosion of data around us and Cloud Computing and Edge are transforming our world and touching our daily lives never before. Cloud computing has become as crucial to the information environment as it has to consumer's lives. Its collaboration capacities (prominently manifested in telemedicine, internet banking, and e-commerce) typify the remote interactivity of a big data landscape shifting, inexorably perhaps, towards the edge.
- Cloud computing, which supported the world's economy, worldwide supply chains and remote workforces during the coronavirus pandemic,
